PERSONAL INTERESTS

My personal interests are rock climbing which is something that I like to do while I can, meeting new people and doing something that interests me. It is both rewarding as I enjoy it and it gives me mental stimulation. I also more recently joined snow sports at Coventry University and have been learning how to ski, this is something completely new to me and I'm always wanting to try something different. I know that I can adapt to different situations and doing that puts me out of my comfort zone is something that I'm willing to do. I want to be different and aspire to do something rather than nothing.
